DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's amendment filed January 24, 2006 has been received and considered. For some reason applicants have filed a terminal disclaimer stating the claims (1-9) "...had previously been allowed in view of the common ownership between the subject application and the principal reference, Jeon et al. (Publication US 2002/0109052 A1)".

It is unclear to the examiner why applicants think this is so. The previous Office Actions (Quayles) give no indication as to why the rejection over the U.S. publication to Jeon et al. was withdrawn. This publication was published (8/15/2002) more than one year prior to applicant's U.S. filing date (10/15/2003). For the purposes of applying art under 35 U.S.C 103 (which is subject to 35 U.S.C. 102) it would qualify as a 102(b) reference – not under 102(e), (f) or (g). It is therefore removed from the "common ownership exception" under 35 U.S.C. 103 (C)(1).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

4. Claims 1,2,9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the U.S. publication to Jeon et al. '052 in view of either Fulks et al., Taylor, or Lucien.

Regarding claim 1, as previously explained, and with which applicants are well familiar, the publication to Jeon et al. '052 discloses the invention substantially as claimed.

Lacking in Jeon et al. is gluing a bushing or sleeve to an associated structure.

The references to Fulks et al. or Taylor or Lucien teach the well known alternative securing method of using adhesives to mechanical connections. See Fulks et al., col. 4 lines (40-60), Taylor col 3 lines 23-26, and Lucien col. 2 lines 36-40.

It would have been obvious at the time of the invention was made to one having ordinary skill in the art to which the invention pertains to modify Jeon et al. to glue the guide sleeve 6 to the spindle rather than to mechanically fix the elements together, as taught by any of the secondary references above, since this modification merely amounts to the substitution of one well known method of connection for another. As stated previously by using adhesive or glue, cost savings may result by avoiding metal-working steps.

Regarding claim 9 the amount of adhesive, i.e., thickness would have been within the skill of an artisan in the art absent statements in the original disclosure establishing criticality.

5. Claims 3,7,8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jeon et al. in view of the modifying references above, as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Hosan et al..

Regarding claims 3,7,8 Hosan et al. is relied upon as previously explained in paragraph 8 in the paper mailed 9/9/04. See Hosan et al. col. 2 lines 60-64.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed January 24, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant's remarks are largely moot in view of the discussion above.

Conclusion

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

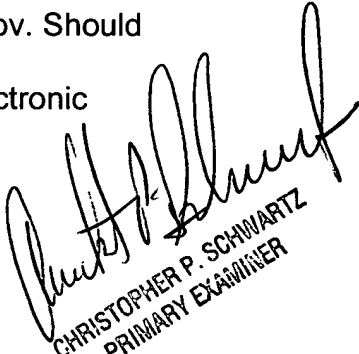

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
